

UNDER THE NAME OF WATER AND EARTH

Teresa Pereda

Water that never halts. Unending rumour of an essential molecule, for the existence of human beings. I intend to portray its natural pace. I let it flow. I make it possible, on a smaller scale, overflows, tsunamis, eruptions, mass removals. Water agitates minute particles. Coal, soil, floating ashes move about, settle down... then slowly become quiet when I silence them. The sediment remains, diversity of geological time and individuality of Earth and Man.

Sublime field of encounter and retreat. Nature and daily life, both throb, none is silenced. I choose the middle, the crossing, where we all are. Where we blend with the paths of things. Under the name of Water and Earth, wishing to share hopes, wills, peace. Most certainly, I believe that art can transform conscience.
